For gaining a plenary indulgence five general conditions (being in a state of grace, complete detachment from all sins, confessing one's sins sacramentally, receiving the Eucharist, and praying for the Supreme Pontiff) are required. The conditions should be fulfilled on the day itself or close to it, with the exception of sacramental confession, where it is sufficient that it be celebrated within several days (about 20) before or after the indulgenced act. Indulgences can always be applied either to oneself or to the souls of the deceased, but they cannot be applied to other persons living on earth. (See: www.ewtn.com/devotionals/mercy/general_conditions.htm)

The following confessions fulfill the indulgence condition. See the other side (page 2) for a complete list of additions special confessions offered in the Dunkirk/Fredonia area this Lent. There are no Confessions scheduled on the Divine Mercy Sunday.
